Jewish Community Foundation to Receive Honor for 40 Years of Philanthropy

On Wednesday, November 15, 2006 the Jewish Community Foundation of San Diego will be recognized for its 40 years of philanthropic service to the community. This special award will be presented by the San Diego chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals (AFP) at the 21st anniversary of National Philanthropy Day— a celebration to recognize philanthropy and the outstanding leadership and volunteerism that makes our community special.

“We are incredibly proud to be recognized by AFP and the community for the work we do,” said Marjory Kaplan, CEO of the Jewish Community Foundation. “We thank the many generous individuals and families and the hardworking community organizations that partner with us— our work together allows us to continue a 40 year tradition of grantmaking in San Diego.”

The Jewish Community Foundation was also recently awarded the 2006 Edward Bernays Bronze Award for Excellence in Annual Reports and the Silver Award of Excellence in Integrated Communication for the Create a Jewish Legacy Program by the San Diego Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America.
