Jewish Community Foundation Announces New Role for Director of Philanthropy Julie Bronstein

The Jewish Community Foundation has announced an expanded role for Director of Philanthropy Julie Bronstein.

Bronstein will continue her efforts in new fund development and will also take on new responsibilities in Donor Services to develop relationships with prospective donors and their advisors and work with current families to expand and enrich their relationships with the Foundation.

Additionally, she will staff the Foundation's Professional Advisor Council and Executive Board of the Professional Advisor Council, coordinate the Foundation's outreach to private foundations and develop new strategies for the Foundation's growth.

Bronstein served as Director of Government Affairs for Verizon in Los Angeles and Manager of Government Relations for the Motion Picture Association of America. As a consultant, Bronstein worked for several non-profit organizations. She holds a master's degree in public administration from the University of Southern California, and a bachelor's degree from Scripps College (Claremont).

"Julie brings a breadth of experience in business and non-profits that will help the Foundation fully address the needs of our donor community," said Marjory Kaplan, president and chief executive officer of the Foundation and holder of the Miriam and Jerome Katzin Presidential Chair. "In this tough economic climate, her role is vital to increasing support for a vibrant and secure Jewish and general community."

About the Jewish Community Foundation of San Diego:

Since 1967, the Jewish Community Foundation has partnered with individuals, families and community organizations to help them achieve their philanthropic goals and to increase current and future support for a vibrant and secure Jewish community in San Diego, Israel and around the world.

During fiscal year 2008-09, the Foundation awarded and facilitated $62 million in 4,700 grants to more than 1,000 Jewish and general organizations in San Diego, the United States and Israel. Visit the Jewish Community Foundation at www.jcfsandiego.org or call 858-279-2740.
