JOURNEY TO THE COPPER AGE

The Museum of Man is thrilled to be presenting the special exhibition, Journey to the Copper Age: Archaeology in the Holy Land. The opening of this unique presentation was feted through multiple Museum events. The Museum of Man was proud to host the 40th anniversary celebration for the Jewish Community Foundation on May 31. Following on June 3 was a beautiful celebration to honor the sponsors and patrons who made the Copper Age exhibit possible. Donors were able to tour the exhibit with curator Dr. Thomas Levy from UCSD and Osnat Misch-Brandl from the Israel Museum, Jerusalem. Following the sneak peek was a delicious meal provided by Paul Bott and Company. On June 4, the Museum of Man and Mainly Mozart joined forces to produce An Evening of Archaeology and Music. Participants enjoyed tours of the Copper Age exhibition followed by a beautiful presentation by violinist Ida Levin and flutist Demarre McGill.

Osnat Misch-Brandl from the Israel Museum, Jerusalem, discusses the exhibit with sponsors and patrons at the June 4 celebration.
