Seven New Board Members for Jewish Community Foundation

Seven experienced community leaders have been appointed to the Board of the Jewish Community Foundation, announced President Andrew Viterbi recently. Sophie Brody, Elliot Feuerstein, Merle Fischlowitz, Henry Haimsohn, David Kabakoff, David Mandelbaum and Paul Nierman all began two-year terms on July 1, 2003.

“These new Board members will be a great asset to the Foundation as we move toward the future,” noted Viterbi. “Their experience and wisdom will be of significant benefit.”

Strong and varied records of leadership and service to the community distinguish all seven new members.

A resident of Rancho Santa Fe, Brody is active in the United Jewish Federation Women’s Division, Agency for Jewish Education, San Diego Opera and UCSD among many other organizations.

Feuerstein, a La Jolla, serves on the Sharp Hospital Foundation Board and is a leader at Congregation Beth Israel.

La Jolla resident Haimsohn has been active at United Way and Congregation Beth Israel.

Fischlowitz, a resident of Poway, is Founding President of the Jewish Cultural and Services Center and has taken roles at Jewish Family Service, United Jewish Federation, Temple Adat Shalom and the San Diego Opera.

Kabakoff, of Rancho Santa Fe, has volunteered for Congregation Beth Am and United Jewish Federation.

Mandelbaum, a La Jolla resident, serves on the Board of Seacrest Village and is the co-founder of Chai South Africa.

Nierman, from University City, currently serves as president of the Reuben H. Fleet Science Center.

All seven new Board members expressed enthusiasm and excitement about their new role. Encouraging endowments for community organizations and advancing the cause of philanthropy in the region were among their top priorities.
