

Jewish Organizations Abound in List of Top 400 Nonprofits

JTA—The Chronicle of Philanthropy recently released its annual list of the top 400 nonprofits. The list included several local and national Jewish organizations, proving the Jewish value of tzedakah is going strong. The Jewish Federation of America came in at No. 40 with $398,400,000; Yeshiva University was No. 108 with $182,880,000; Hadassah was No. 253 with $85,620,000; the Anti-Defamation League came in at No. 308 with $68,250,000; the American Society for Technion-Israel Institute of Technology took 312th with $67,800,000; and the Jewish Community Foundation of San Diego ranked 317th with $67,000,000.